OPIOID OVERDOSE IS ON THE RISE

Opioid use is becoming more and more common. Overdoses occur when someone takes too much of an opioid (heroin, oxycontin, morphine) and begins to stop breathing. Naloxone will quickly reverse the overdose by counteracting the opioid.

Does your loved one suffer from opioid addiction?

Having Naloxone available can be a matter of life and death. Ambulances may not arrive in time to assist and the overdose may become fatal.

C.O.R.E.

At the CORE Center we are dedicated to the education and prevention of substance use and abuse. Attending an opioid overdose education class will teach you how to respond to an overdose and provide you with the necessary education on substance abuse.
