

Lost your child's vaccine record?

Here are a few places to look:

It's important to keep vaccination records ready and up to date. Documentation may be required for school, childcare, or extracurricular activities.

Doctors Office

Children are often provided a Yellow Vaccination Card to bring to doctor appointments. If the card is lost, your doctor may be able to print another copy. If your child received vaccines from different locations, you may have to contact each location to get the full vaccine record.

Previous School

Try contacting the last school your child went to. Schools verify vaccinations for all their students and may be able to look up old records. Keep in mind records may be kept for only 1-2 years after students leave the school.

Digital Vaccine Record

Request a digital copy of your child's vaccine record online through the Digital Vaccine Record (DVR) portal. This digital copy can be used as proof of vaccination for your child's school requirements.
